Art Unit: 2645

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Applicant has not described what a "HomePNA communication system" is. There is no definition of such in Newton's Telecom Dictionary.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kung et al, U.S. patent Publication #20030133558.

Kung et al Fig. 3 shows a residential communication system comprising gateway (300), and describes it in [0028] that it may be separated into more than one physical device allowing functionality to be distributed to a plurality of different locations in the customer premises or network 1. In [0050], Kung et al disclose a least cost router 255 that enables Kung's system to determine to determine the least cost routing of telephone and data transmission throughout the network. Router 255 also provides gateway users the capability to select between cost and QoS. Fig. 2 of Kung et al shows multiple gateways 230, 232, 234, 236, 238, 240 along with least cost router 255.

Any inquiry concerning this communication should be directed to Creighton H. Smith at telephone number 571/272-7546.
